

We may win a few battles, but we'll never win the war.

We need an Education Bill of Rights because it is impossible to reform our education system as it is currently structured. Reform is only possible by externally imposing standards that the system must comply with, and be held accountable for, by oversight. Change will naturally occur within the system in response to those standards. The Bill of Rights is the engine for change.

Citizens control the system, because they fund the system. Education and government workers are hired to serve and obey us, their citizen employers. As owners and parents, we are saying that we will make the decisions about OUR CHILDREN... OUR MONEY... OUR FREEDOMS... OUR EDUCATION RIGHTS.

We will not compromise those rights; and, we will stand up for our kids.
