

You often hear that Home Schooling inhibits the child's ability to socialize, which is not true. They are “differently socialized“ in a more constructive manner; in a secure and loving environment. Compare their Socialization to the classrooms our children are experiencing — full of indoctrination; bigotry; segregation; and hatred. *Our children are social outcasts.

Socialization studies show public school children score eight times higher in behavior problems than homeschooled. They also found, that because of a higher level of Socialization, homeschooled children, and adults, participate more in community service. Homeschooling is the fastest growing form of education in the U.S.

Homeschool students consistently outscore public schoolers on pretty much every academic merit.

Achievement gaps between boys and girls; parents with lower incomes, and education; are not found among homeschool families.
